Islam has long been a part of the West in terms of religion, culture, politics, and society. Discussing this interaction from al-Andalus to the present, this handbook explores the influence Islam has had and continues to exert, particularly its impact on host societies' culture and politics. Highlighting specific themes and topics in history and culture, chapters cover European paradigms, Muslims in the Americas, cultural interactions, Islamic cultural contributions to the Western world, and Western contributions to Islam. Providing a sound historical background from which a nuanced overview of Islam and Western society can be built, the Routledge Handbook of Islam in the West brings to the fore specific themes and topics that have generated both reciprocal influence and conflict. Presenting readers with a range of perspectives from scholars based in Europe, the US, and the Middle East, this handbook challenges perceptions on both Western and Muslim sides and will be an invaluable resource for policymakers and academics with an interest in the history of Islam, religion, and the contemporary relationship between Islam and the West.

This book is about Muslim encounters with the modern. How Islam and those in its orbit have shaped and been shaped by histories that are overlapping and distinctive. Identity and citizenship, piety and protest, music and modes of dress are explored as expressions that bear on the making and remaking of modern public spheres. Muslim as well as non-Muslim scholars show in these pages that tradition and religiosity alike are active players in the making of the modern. A vital theme is the role of the ethical imagination in expressions of the civil fed by the diversity of religious and cultural narratives as sources of the self. This can be seen in struggles for civil society and democratic citizenship in the grappling with new technologies and in the challenges of political violence. Since the events of September 11, 2001, a failure to come to grips with plural modernities has spurred claims about a clash of civilizations. Fresh perspectives are offered here on what it is to be Muslim and modern, mindful of the rich narratives that inform both identities.
