reader by prominent novelists of the period including Jules Vallès, Paul Bourget, Maurice Barrès, and André Gide, and Marcel Proust in the final decades of the nineteenth century. Social commentators insistently characterized excessive reading as an emasculating illness that afflicted French youth. Fin de siècle writers responded to this pathologization of reading with a profusion of novels addressed to young male readers, paradoxically proposing their own novels as potential cures. In the early twentieth century, this corpus was critically revisited by a new generation of writers. Victims of the book, as Gide and Proust in particular reworked the fin de siècle paradox to subvert cultural norms about literature and masculinity, proposing instead a queer pact between writer and reader.
